WELCOME

THIS LEAFLET GIVES A BRIEF INTRODUCTION TO IAH AND WHAT ITS MEMBERSHIP BRINGS TO YOU

WHO WE ARE

The International Association of Hydrogeologists (IAH/AIH) is a scientific and educational charitable organisation for scientists, engineers, water managers and other professionals working in the fields of groundwater resource planning, management and protection.

Founded in 1956, we have grown, with the ever increasing social and environmental importance of groundwater, to over 4000 members world-wide.

We welcome into membership all those, from whatever discipline or level of technical knowledge, who are directly or indirectly engaged in study, research or management of groundwater and want to improve their understanding and support the aims of the Association.

Companies and research organisations can apply for corporate membership. We also welcome corporate sponsors.

WHAT WE DO

Our mission is to further the understanding, wise use and protection of groundwater resources throughout the world.

We endeavour to raise awareness of groundwater issues and work with national and international agencies to promote the use of groundwater to ensure ready access to safe drinking water. IAH also promotes the protection of aquifers against pollution, the improvement of aquifer storage and the management of groundwater resources to assure the sustainability of groundwater-dependent ecosystems.

IAH is truly a world-wide association, its efforts being made through its National Chapters, scientific or topic based Commissions and Networks; its international team of Council members, its UK based Secretariat and, of course, through its membership spread right around the world.

MEMBERSHIP

If you have an interest in groundwater science, engineering, resource planning and all related fields, you would benefit from IAH membership.

10 GOOD REASONS TO JOIN US

1. It is the only global organisation which cares passionately about the proper use, protection and knowledge of groundwater.
2. You can network with other hydrogeologists and groundwater-related specialists from around the world.
3. You can participate in our wide range of special interest groups, known as Commissions and Networks (including an Early Career Hydrogeologists' Network).
4. You will receive an annual paper or online subscription to Hydrogeology Journal, one of the major cited international journals dealing with groundwater issues.
5. You can help and learn, as IAH strengthens its efforts in educational and professional development.
6. Many countries have a National Chapter, providing professional contacts, news and events closer to home.
7. You can join our mentoring scheme to gain valuable experience and knowledge – either as a giver or receiver of advice.
8. You benefit from a range of IAH member discounts, including:
 - substantial discount on publishing fees for “open choice” submissions to our Hydrogeology Journal;
 - 60% discount on IAH books via Taylor and Francis;
 - 20% discount on all Springer-Verlag English-language books; Discounted registration fees at IAH congresses and meetings.
9. You will be supporting us in our mission and goals – and will help make our plans a reality.
10. Finally, the more members we have, the more powerful and effective our voice internationally and the wider we can reach in all aspects of our work.
